The jitters of the trade war between the U.S. and China loomed; still, China and the U.S.'s manufacture data of March to be released on Monday 04/02/2018 is projected to get no impact.

China's manufacture activities in March is projected to grow further because its authorities lifted winter pollution restrictions. Meanwhile, in the U.S., the Fed's projection of the higher economic growth outlook notes the further trend of bullish manufacture in the U.S.

Exchange Rate

IDR closed lower by 0.25% into IDR13,782 per USD in last week. In domestic backdrop, this week's main focus is the release of macroeconomic data: inflation and manufacture index. The hike in non-subsidized petroleum and inflation constituted as pressures on inflation; however, it is estimated that inflation remains maintainable. The harvest cycle of March is projected to be robust enough to cushion inflation pressure steaming from the hike in non-subsidized petroleum.
